

NATIONAL HEALTH EQUITY | GRAND ROUNDS

Linda Rae Murray, MD, MPH, FACP

Adjunct Assistant Professor, University of Illinois Chicago School of Public Health

Panelist, Follow the Money! Understanding the Structural Incentives for Inequity in Health Care and Beyond

Linda Rae Murray, MD, MPH, FACP, has been a voice for social justice and health as a basic human right for over 50 years and has spent her career serving the medically underserved.

In December 2014, she retired from her position as the chief medical officer for the Cook County Department of Public Health and ended over 40 years of clinical practice in December 2018. Today she serves as an honorary attending of Cook County Health, an adjunct assistant professor at the University of Illinois Chicago School of Public Health, and National Advisory Committee member for the National Collaborative for Health Equity.

Dr. Murray remains passionate about increasing the number of Black and Latinx health professionals and serves on the Urban Health Program Community Advisory Council at the University of Illinois Chicago. She also serves on local and national boards including the Chicago-based Health & Medicine Policy Research Group.

Dr. Murray has worked in leadership roles in public health organizations including as president of the American Public Health Association and as a member of the National Association of County and City Health Officials' Health Equity and Social Justice Team.